Putting Your Ancestors in Historical Perspective on Newspapers.com™

Anne Gillespie Mitchell

A wide-angle landscape photograph of a coastal cliff. The cliff face is composed of light-colored, layered rock, possibly limestone or chalk, and is partially covered with green grass and moss. The cliff drops down to a rocky beach with small waves lapping at the shore. The sea is a deep blue-green color, extending to the horizon under a sky filled with soft, white clouds. In the distance, another cliff formation is visible on the right side of the frame.

We are not operating a nudist colony.

But a secluded vacation center where people may go naked. There is a distinction.

If there's a distinction – it's too fine for my legal mind. You can commune with nature all you want as long as you wear some clothes.

Riverside court won't stand for nudism.

A wide-angle landscape photograph of a rugged coastline. In the foreground, a steep, grassy cliffside descends towards a rocky beach. The middle ground shows a calm, blue-green sea with several large, dark rock formations protruding from the water. In the background, a flat, grassy plateau extends to the horizon under a sky filled with soft, white clouds. The overall scene is serene and scenic.

Constructing a Good Search

What you need to know to construct a good search.

Newspaper searches are based on OCR technology – which means they are text searches.

It is more like a google search than a typical search on Ancestry.com or other genealogy sites.

On Ancestry.com and similar sites when you search in a census, you can identify pieces of data:

- First Name: Otto
- Last Name: Payne
- Birth Date: 1923
- Residence: North Carolina

So on Newspapers.com, you want to search for the name

- Otto
- Payne

For dates, use a lifespan

- 1923 – 2010

And use papers from a place to limit location:

- Residence: North Carolina

A large majority of the voters will come from the Democratic party, and just as far as the vote of the Third party increases, the strength of the Democratic party decreases. So that the question for each prohibitionist to decide now is this: Which political party do I prefer to have in power in North Carolina—the Democratic or Republican?"

He says also, and says truly:

"With either as a political party we will have the saloons. We know that, and therefore it is a choice which party, with the saloons, the prohibitionists prefer. There can be no hope of electing Mr. Walker or any of the Third party candidates. So that we

Miss Art's Letter.
Atlanta, Ga., August 16, 1888.

It is pretty hot around these parts, but we are doing to make it better. The furnace work has begun. We are going to cook iron and then make it into stoves to cook bread and meat and make it into steel rails for our railroads to load us something to cook. It takes a power of hot work to keep these poor masses afloat in good condition. I would have been a rich man but for this everlasting cooking business that never stops for five. But we are all built that way, and so the business goes on.

The furnace hall opened yesterday, and Dr. Frost and Mr. Martin are kept looking over the ground and directing the surveying and leveling and plating and loading. Very soon the grading will begin, and there will be plenty of son, and they and their families will be hungry three times a day, and want watermelons or peaches or apples between meals. The stove-factory is to follow the furnace, and we are going to make horse-shoes, and nails, and axes, and stone-hammers, and most anything else that can be made out of iron.

Evans Howell says the finest fattest he saw at Long Branch last summer was carrying a man he supposed was Vanderbilt, or Astor, or an English lord, or a French count, and so he got out of the way quick and took off his hat as the fellow passed, and then he found out he was a Confederate sharp, who had made a fortune making hair-pins. I believe I will make some hair-pins or fish-hooks or carpet-tacks or tacks or buttons or something. They say a man can make more money out of, but a man who does not appreciate it hasn't got enough patriotism in his bosom to defend his friends.

BILL ANN.

Mr. Broughton on the Third Party.
(Theodore Tildesley Faint.)

Mr. S. B. Broughton, one of the staunchest, most earnest and most consistent prohibitionists in the State, has written a card in which he takes the ground that the organization of the Third party is unwise and dangerous, not only to the cause of prohibition, but to our civil and political institutions.

Mr. Broughton says:
"If the question were prohibition or license, the position of the prohibitionist would be clear, but it is not so in the mind of the people as to the result of the general combination of the Third party in North Carolina. A large majority of the voters and gently laid his remains in a handsome casket covered with purple velvet, satin lined and silver trimmed. His head reposes on a purple satin pillow ornamented with rich gold bars. His grave in Woodlawn cemetery alone will cost $200.

Within a mile of the old mansion the bodies of four Jackson soldiers yesterday rested on tables in the Morgue. One of them was that of a child. They were stungled into rude pine boxes, loaded into a dump wagon and hauled off to unknown graves in Potter's field. No tears were shed. No requiems were sung. Their taking off caused no convulsive sobs, no unbecoming postures, no heart-burnings.

Mr. Charles Abernethy's little son, as we learn, was playing last Monday evening and fell from the porch. It

Iron Station.
Mr. Editor: Nearly all our people are gone to the Mount-Railly Fair this week. Business is dull, but will get better soon, I hope.

We have been favored with good rains for the past two weeks and crops are better than we expected. Cotton crops are very fine.

Not much sickness around Iron Station, though it is very painful duty to chronicle the deaths of some of our youth. Jimmie, son of Mr. Marcus Carpenter, at Hethoth Furnace, died week before last with fever; Miss Irena Loftin, aged 10 years, died near Iron Station last week after two weeks' illness, and the sad death of a little child near Macleod's is reported.

Mr. Charles Abernethy's little son, as we learn, was playing last Monday evening and fell from the porch. It

miles after the last enemy tank city of Rome tonight and found the Germans had left the city in great haste.

New lines set by the Germans were burning and halfway in were in ruins as result of all bombs. Yet Rome as a whole surprisingly little changed in the time we left. It is an amazing thing for a city and 2 1/2

A LARGE FORCE of American planes, inaugurating a shuttle bombing program which opens up the possibility of reaching enemy targets in German-held Europe, landed at now, strictly-undefended Rome, in the British zone after dropping their bombs on targets in Romania. Although the point of take-off was not disclosed in the first dispatches describing the attack, the planes apparently flew from bases in Italy.
The new bomber bases were built, and are manned, by York and Soviet units that worked together for many months. (International)

Girl Practicing on Teletype Machine Sends Invasion Report Message Saturday Afternoon Which Goes All Over World

By United Press

A false Associated Press dispatch that the Allies had landed in France was disseminated in North and South America by that news agency Saturday afternoon and the girl teletype operator whom the Associated Press said was responsible for its erroneous report was confined to her London home today by nervous exhaustion.

Cancelled But Too Late

Five minutes after carrying the dispatch, the Associated Press cancelled it, but by that time it had been broadcast over hundreds of radio stations. Baseball games in the United States were halted, special prayers were said and the telephone switchboards of newspapers and radio stations were flooded with calls.

A wide-angle landscape photograph of a rugged coastline. On the left, a steep, grassy cliffside descends to a rocky beach. The sea is a deep blue-green, with white foam from waves breaking against the shore. In the distance, more cliffs and a few large rocks are visible under a cloudy sky. The overall mood is serene and natural.

A wide-angle photograph of a rugged coastal landscape. In the foreground, a steep, grassy cliffside descends towards a rocky shoreline. The water is a deep blue-green color, with gentle waves lapping at the shore. In the distance, another cliffside is visible across the water, and the sky is filled with soft, white clouds. The overall scene is serene and scenic.

My grandmother was living in Kings Mountain, NC helping to raise her brothers and sisters.

Her parents had died in the 1920's.

I couldn't find a newspaper for Gastonia or Charlotte, but I did find High Point, NC which is less than a 100 miles away.

That Sunday of December 7th, 1941 was cold, but Monday was expected to be nicer.

The world was concerned about the Russians battle with the Nazi's.

FDR was sending messages to the "Jap Ruler."

The paper was full of peril but it was all somewhere else.

On that cold, clear day, the family no doubt put on their Sunday best and went to church, probably praying for a world seemingly gone mad.

That afternoon, before 1pm on the east coast, the Japanese had begun their attack on Pearl Harbor.

It is easy to imagine families gathered around the radio waiting for information on what had happened, wondering what was coming next. The evening newspaper, (remember when newspapers were published twice a day?) delivered the news:

The paper was full of late bulletins and initial reports.

Was Manila bombed? How many planes did the Japanese use? Would they attack again? Would the United States declare war?

Imagine waking up that clear cold Sunday morning planning what you would wear to church and going to bed with the knowledge that war had come to America

Late Bulletins

CANADIANS MEET

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King called the Canadian cabinet to meet tonight to consider the Far Eastern situation.

UNIMAGINABLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—(AP)—“It’s unimaginable!” That was the way Joshio Muto, Japanese consul general here, reacted to word the Japanese were bombing Honolulu and Manila.

“I had no intimation of it,” he cried.

“I don’t know what I shall do, yet, or whether there is anything I can do.”

“LICK HELL OUT OF THEM”

BILLINGS, Mont., Dec. 7.—(AP)—“The only thing now is to do our best to lick hell out of them,” Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana said today after learning of the Japanese attack on Hawaii and the Philippines.

JAP BURNS PAPERS

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7.— —A Japanese attaché of the Japanese consulate here this afternoon began hurriedly burning papers in the back yard of the consulate around which a police guard had been placed. The smoke was visible from the street as the attaché piled papers on the flames.

U. S. FLYING:

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The air force of the United States in the Far East has taken to the air, an NBC observer reported by radio direct from Manila today.

BRITISH GUNBOAT SUNK

SHANGHAI, Monday, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Japanese sunk the British Gunboat Petrel as it lay off the International Settlement waterfront.

Declaration Preceded By Surprise Attack On U. S. Possession In Pacific

Despite White House Announcement, Reported Raid On Manila Not Confirmed; Estimate 150 Tokyo Planes In Raid On Pearl Harbor

(By The Associated Press)

Imperial headquarters at Tokyo declared war late today against both the United States and Britain after Japanese bombers had attacked the great Pearl Harbor naval base at Honolulu and the Philippines.

President Roosevelt called an extraordinary meeting of the cabinet for 8:30 p.m. and congressional leaders of both parties have been summoned to join the conference at 9 p. m.

The White House said the President “is assembling all the facts as rapidly as possible and in all probability he will, as quickly as possible, make a full, informative report to Congress, probably in the form of a message.”

President Roosevelt is expected to ask Congress for a declaration of war tomorrow, according to a dispatch from Washington.

By the afternoon of the 8th, with 3,000 casualties, with serious destruction of the Navy, the Senate and the House joined together and voted for the U.S. was at war. There was only one dissenter.

Swift Action Is Taken By Joint Bodies

Senate Votes Unanimously For War Declaration Shortly After President Asks For Immediate Action; Both Houses Show Greatest Unity With Policy House Votes 388 To 1

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Congress voted a formal declaration of war against Japan today after President Roosevelt requested immediate action as an answer to Japan's "unprovoked and dastardly attack" on Hawaii.

A united Congress acted swiftly after the President had revealed that Japanese forces had two warships and 2,000 dead and wounded in the surprise dawn attack yesterday.

The Senate vote was 82 to 0.

The House began its roll call vote at 1:05 p. m. Eastern standard time.

Both branches had just clustered in the side President Roosevelt's appeal for the declaration.

"I see," the chief executive told a press session, "that the Congress believes that since the unprovoked and dastardly attack by Japan on Sunday, December 7th, a state of war has existed between the United States and the Japanese Empire."

The President said that yesterday was "a date which will live in infamy."

QUICK ACTION

Within 35 minutes after he received the Senate had acted.

The momentous debate at the Capitol followed a White House announcement that Japan's sudden attack on Hawaii yesterday had cost the United States two warships and 2,000 dead and wounded.

Starting at the podium of the House chamber, the chief speaker, in a sense such as had not been marked since 1812, stated that Japanese leaders had "incited our sea and air forces to a dastardly and unprovoked attack on our Hawaiian Islands."

Japan Attack More Serious Than Supposed

Military Action Against Hawaii Is Still Going On; Americans Rally To Defense

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The United States declared that American forces lost two warships and 2,000 dead and wounded in the Japanese attack on Hawaii.

The United States said that the Japanese fleet which attacked Pearl Harbor yesterday was the largest ever assembled in the Pacific.

The Japanese attack was described as a "dastardly and unprovoked" attack on a "defenseless" island.

In addition, two United States planes and submarines had been destroyed.

This was announced in a warship which departed for Hawaii.

The United States said that the Japanese attack was the first of a series of attacks on the United States in the Pacific.

Japanese Generalissimo Hirohito, announced the war yesterday, saying he would see the war through to the end.

NEW YORK CITY UNDERGOES TWO AIR ALARMS

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. — (AP) — The great metropolitan area of New York City was put on an air raid alert twice within an hour shortly after noon today amid varying and unconfirmed reports of an imminent attack by hostile planes.

The first alarm sounded at 1:55 P. M. (EST) and the all clear followed 20 minutes later. But at 2:05 P. M. the wailing of police and fire sirens sounded another warning.

A PortJunk, No., source which did not want to be named, said at two o'clock that "hostile forces" were on board outside of Brooklyn.

The small radio beam at the Norfolk, Va., municipal airport was shut down and all Norfolk police were ordered on the alert following a report that enemy planes, possibly headed toward this important defense area, were approaching the Atlantic Coast. Precautionary measures were taken at the Langley Field air base.

The vital Panama Canal underwent a warning, according to a Panamanian broadcast heard in New York by NBC which said Japanese aircraft were reported flying over the Panama coast this morning but no bombs were dropped.

The vast stretch of Long Island from the city to Montauk Point also braced itself for the reported possible attack. A military school children in New York and thousands on Long Island were sent home.

The New York information center so described said that so far as they knew, there was absolutely no reason for the second alarm and said that the metropolitan area had been all clear since the previous "all clear" signal was sounded.

Acting on information received from Governor's Island, headquarters of the first army, that hostile planes were reported two hours out of New York at noon (EST) all planes at Mitchell field took to the air and facilities were evacuated from the military reservation, although air corps detectors had not confirmed the presence of planes.

Navy press officers said they had not received a report on any hostile planes. They rushed the news to the office of Admiral Adolphus Andrews, commander of the third naval district and commander of the North Atlantic coastal frontier, which extends from Hatteras to Halifax.

Airwaves were not available for immediate comment. (Continued on page 5.)

By the 9th, those in New York City had been put on alert when two air alarms went off around noon, expecting that they were about to be attacked.

Even in rural North Carolina there was likely a lingering fear that they were not safe.

The Japanese assumed that they would be joined by the Nazi's in their declaration of the war on the U.S.

In a mere 48 hours, daily life, life itself had changed.

Every day newspapers delivered another new screaming headline. By the 10th, Germany and Italy had declared war on the U.S.

What was the family thinking? My four great uncles: Floyd, age 31; Tommy, age 28; Robert, age 26; and Otto, age 18; would serve in World War II.

What were they thinking as they read those initial reports? By the 10th of December, editorials and editorial cartoons were already resolute in their desire for victory

The newspapers were still full of society gossip, movie ads, Christmas shopping specials and ideas were in the pages.

It is easy to believe that those items were not consumed with the same interest and enthusiasm.

It is hard to believe that the thought of Christmas held the same idea of magic and delight that year. Preparing for the war effort had already started will be held Friday at 10 a. m. at the Grace Methodist church for Miss Eva Elizabeth Payseur, 59, who died Wednesday after a short illness. The Rev. Sides Jr., and the Rev. Garmon will officiate. Burial will be in Mountain Rest Cemetery. The body will remain at the Funeral Home until one o'clock before services when it will be taken to the church.

MISS EVA E. PAYSEUR

KINGS MOUNTAIN —

Surviving are her mother, Sara Baxter Payseur, and two brothers, Glenn and Baxter Payseur, all of Kings Mountain. Her father was the late Boyce Payseur.

MRS. W. H. BAXTER

One of the largest attendance at funerals we have attended here Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock over the remains of Miss Ava Payseur, the 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. Boyce R. Payseur, who died just outside the limits of East Kings Mountain. The funeral services were conducted jointly by Rev. Cole, pastor of the Kings Mountain Methodist church, and B. A. Culp, pastor of the Kings Mountain Methodist church. The church was crowded with friends and sympathizers, many of whom were visibly touched by the solemnity of the occasion. The funeral home remains at Mountain Rest Cemetery for interment.

Ava, just blooming in Ava, just blooming into young womanhood was looked upon as a model type of a young woman who knew her duty and a reaper should not have taken her down. She was a girl who was accounted a good home, in the school church and Sabbath school. She was a faithful member of the Kings Mountain church.

Deceased suffered intensely for about two weeks before her death. As was stated in the Herald last week she had laryngitis and tuberculosis of the brain. Every earthly aid was rendered but to no avail.

Out of respect to Ava and the bereaved family, her teacher, Miss Ima Willeford, principal of East Kings Mountain Graded school, with a group of students attended the funeral in a body.

Carl Baxter's Sister Killed In Accident

Mrs. Bertha Baxter Searce, 62, who was killed Monday in a highway accident near Greensboro, was the sister of Carl A. Baxter of Gastonia.

Mrs. Searce and her husband, Eugene Wesley Searce, 62, of Dry Fork, Va., were both fatally injured when their car skidded across a rain-swept highway into the path of an oncoming tractor-trailer, six miles south of Greensboro. Raymond Brown, 38, of Robbins, was operating the tractor, according to highway patrolmen.

men.

The Virginia couple was returning from Asheboro, where they had attended a funeral that day.

A native of Lincoln county, Mrs. Searce was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Baxter.

Besides her brother in Gastonia, she is survived by another brother, Kilgo Baxter of Washington, D. C.; a half-sister, Mrs. Sallie Payseur of Kings Mountain; and a half-brother, Will Baxter of Morganton.
